P-p-penguins pay visit to Whipsnade while they await new home

FORTY-ONE penguins have been moved to Whipsnade Zoo while their new £2m home in London is built.

The feathered friends arrived on Tuesday and will be on show at Whipsnade until May when the Penguin Beach at London Zoo will be opened.

A Whipsnade spokeswoman said: "The penguins are in the regular enclosure with our existing penguins and are settling in well.

"They have slowly been getting used to the new surroundings, but are now starting to go into the ponds and enjoy feeding times.

"Six little chicks are currently in the bird garden, kept separately to keep an eye on them as they are younger, before they go up to join the rest of the group."

Council advice fees top £13m since 2007

EXCLUSIVE

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophiescott@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE than £13 million of taxpayers' money has been spent on consultants by a council which said it would put an end to their use.

As more than 100 jobs were cut this week at Luton Borough Council in a bid to save £3.5 million, figures have been presented to Luton on Sunday by Liberal Democrat group leader David Franks (pictured right) which show millions of pounds has been forked out on advisors.

According to Cllr Franks, the authority spent nearly £13.5 million on consultants since Labour was elected to take over from the Lib Dems at the Town Hall in May 2007 – despite pledging not to use them.

Cllr Franks' figures show the council spent £3,219,010 during 2007/08, £5,971,910 in 2008/09 and £4,253,024 in 2009/10.

Included in the amount, which the council was unable to confirm or deny before we went to press, is £108,960 spent on a consultant to manage other consultants for the Luton Dunstable Busway.

Some of the money spent on consultants comes from the Government for projects such as the busway and Building Schools for the Future. Figures for this year have not yet been released.

Cllr Franks said: "Most large organisations will spend some money on consultants.

"When you need an electrician or a plumber at home you bring one in, you don't employ one all the time.

"The council should be spending some money to buy in expertise they don't need very often but this spend is out of control.

"They even spent £109,000 on a consultant to manage the other consultants.

"It's the hypocrisy we are complaining about. They boasted when they took over in 2007 that consultants were 'a thing of the past' and pledged they would do away with spending millions on consultants. We didn't believe them at the time and now they've been found out."

Back in 2007, Labour Cllr Robin Harris told this paper: "They didn't produce value for money and we will be looking to deliver things in the most cost-effective way we can – without consultants."

This week, Cllr Harris said: "I think what should have been said is it is trying to do it without consultants. It was a matter of semantics.

"And I think that is exactly what we have done. We are now on £2.5 million [excluding the government money] so we have made a lot of progress. It is not off the radar, we are working to reduce it further."

In the final year of the Lib Dems' power, they spent £4.377 million on consultants.

This newspaper revealed in 2006 that consultancy firm Atos Origin was paid £3 million by the council to review the organisation of its departments.

As part of this review, Atos advised the council to spend less money on consultants.

Cllr Franks said: "For every £1 we spent on Atos, we saved £2 by reorganising council departments."

Potential sites for new Hatters' stadium set to be considered

BY LUI STRACCIA
lui.straccia@Lutononsunday.co.uk

A GOVERNMENT planning inspector could be asked to look at potential sites for a new home for Luton Town.

On Tuesday, Luton Borough Council's executive committee made a recommendation to ask the inspector to 'consider possible sites for a new Luton Town FC stadium in this [West of Luton] or other locations'.

In June 2008, when the club was taken over, director Stephen Browne said they wanted a feasibility study to find a preferred location for a new ground 'to be completed in six months'.

In November that year, club chairman Nick Owen told the BBC's Football Focus programme 'six possible sites' were being looked at as part of the study.

In January 2010, the council - which owns Hatters' Kenilworth Road stadium - gave the club up to 14 more years at the ground. Should the club win promotion back up to the Football League between now and 2014, the council will extend the lease by a period of ten years from that point.

The current deal runs until 2018, after an extension was sealed with the council in 2008.

Last November, Mr Browne told this newspaper the club's feasibility study 'should probably have been called a feasibility process' and that the process was still ongoing.

In 2008, Bushwood proposed a massive development to the west of Luton involving 5,500 homes and a community stadium. In a statement, Bushwood said: 'We are delighted that Luton Borough Council's executive committee has voted to support development to the West of Luton as the scheme provides many benefits to Luton and Dunstable.'

'Bushwood is a privately funded scheme that will provide much needed employment and homes for this area.'

'Over a number of years we have consulted with local people, businesses and regulatory boards to ensure the scheme is fully sustainable and deliverable.'

'It would be fantastic if a new site could be found for the football club.'

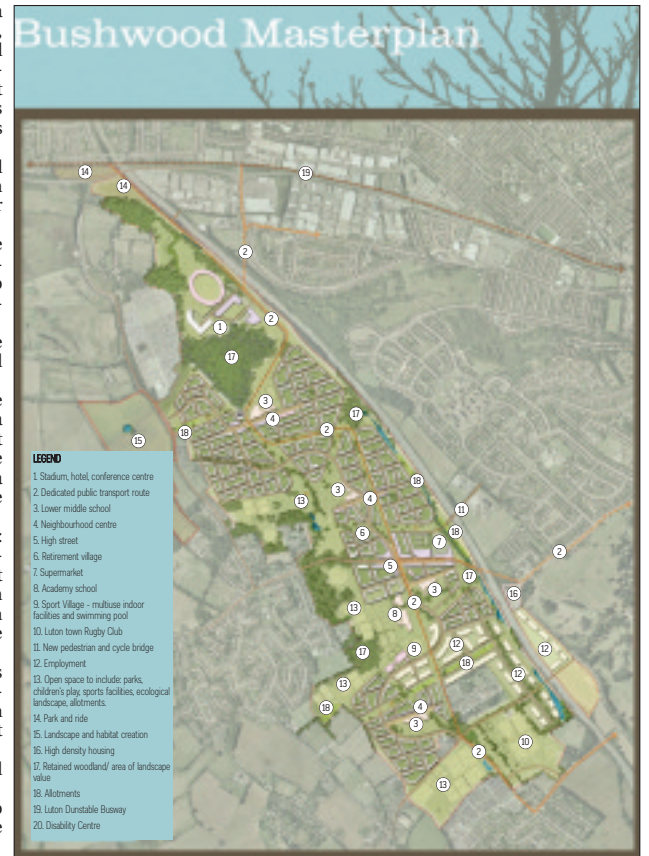

'It is a breath of fresh air to see the club finally enjoying success as a result of hard work by the present administration and it would be nice to see supporters rewarded with a new stadium when they climb the football league again.'

In a statement, the Town Hall said: 'This issue was highlighted in matters to be raised with the Inspector at the Examination in Public with regard to the Luton and South Bedfordshire Growth Area Core Strategy.'

'The Executive's recommendations ask the Inspector to 'consider possible sites for a new Luton Town Football Club stadium in this [West of Luton] or other locations'.'

'The issue will be considered by full Council on Tuesday.'

Luton Town Football Club failed to respond to our inquiries before we went to press.

Vauxhall to be unveiled as sponsor to roar on Three Lions VAUXHALL will be revealed as the new sponsors of England's football team in a £22 million deal on Tuesday.

The Luton-based car giant has secured a big money agreement with all four home nations after talks with Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

The Vauxhall Griffin logo, which was updated last year, will feature on the front of the players' shirts when England play their next competitive game - the Euro 2012 qualifier against Wales in Cardiff on March 26.

The Football Association will receive £5.5 million a year in sponsorship cash from Vauxhall, who will finally replace Nationwide Building Society, which dumped the squad after a dismal World Cup performance.

Nationwide offered to extend its last four-year contract, worth around £25 million, before the World Cup kicked-off in June 2010.

But the FA rejected it, hoping to get a better deal if Fabio Capello's men did well in South Africa.

That has allowed Vauxhall, which has its HQ in Osborne Road, to step in and provide the much needed boost The FA had been searching for.

Rumours had been circulating since November about a possible deal being on the cards, but an agreement has now been reached.

The comprehensive four-year support of international football

The Vauxhall plant in Osborne Road

will give the national associations much needed revenue following the crushing World Cup vote defeat in Zurich in November.

In 2010, 369 jobs were cut from the Luton plant, leaving it with around 1,500 staff, and workers agreed to a two-year pay freeze in May as part of General Motors' Europe-wide restructuring deal.

Then, last September, Vauxhall revealed it had struck an agreement with Renault for continued co-operation between the two car makers concerning the future of the Vivaro van producing factory in Kimpton Road until 2013, when the existing venture between the car giants is due to run out.

On Friday, Luton South Labour MP Gavin Shaker said: 'Recently it has been incredibly welcome. Vauxhall and GM Europe have wanted to make investment in the UK, but I want to see the next announcement be about the van factory in Luton.'

'We need an announcement about the future of the plant, because it's overdue.'

'Staff have just gone through another Christmas with their jobs up in the air, and Luton North MP Kelvin Hopkins and I have been working hard to bring about a decision.'

Asked if the money could have been better spent on saving jobs, Mr Shaker said: 'In all fairness to Vauxhall, it's a marketing decision. It could never have come from the same pot of money.'

'But it raises an important point in that Vauxhall is making hard-headed marketing decisions.'

Vauxhall has had a previous long-term involvement in football with its 12 year title backing of the Conference. Its team, Vauxhall Motors, plays in the Blue Square Bet North.

Vauxhall and The FA remained tight-lipped on the deal, refusing to comment, while the union Unite said it wanted to wait until Tuesday's official announcement.

MURDER SUSPECT TO FACE TRIAL

A 17-year-old boy accused of the murder of a teenager who was stabbed to death is to stand trial.

Michael Simwanza, also 17, was stabbed at the Kingsway Recreation Ground in Luton on October 30.

The teenager, who cannot be named for legal reasons, is due to stand trial at Luton Crown Court on June 13, a court official confirmed.

DATE CHANGE FOR LUTON MATCH

A LUTON Town home match has been brought forward by a day 'on police advice' to avoid a potential clash with an anti-extremist gathering.

The English Defence League (EDL) plans to march through Luton town centre on February 5 - the same day when Hatters were due to play a league game against Barrow. But the club have moved the fixture to the evening of the day before.

NEW STATION CAR PARK TO OPEN

A NEW multi-storey rail station car park will open tomorrow.

The facility off Midland Road, will offer motorists a safer, more secure, convenient and user-friendly facility. The old Station Road surface car park will close at the same time, freeing up a vital area for a major regeneration of the station area.

The new building has been paid for by Luton Borough Council, built by Network Rail and will be operated by First Capital Connect.

EXCLUSIVE

CLAIMS of being chased by Elvis Presley with a stick, a caller saying their 'bum is on fire' and threats to blow themselves up are just some of the hoax 999 calls made last year.

Some examples of reported 'crimes' were:

■ A young man on the line saying 'it's an emergency, my bum is on fire'

■ An intoxicated woman saying she loved her son and she was concerned for him as he had gone out with his girlfriend

■ A man saying he needs the fire brigade as his cat is stuck up an average sized tree and it loves him so much it would normally just jump down

■ A woman saying she wants to confess to murder. The operator asks her what her date of birth is and she says she does not know and then hangs up

■ A man saying they need police because they are in 'New York'

■ A woman calling for an ambulance after saying a person upstairs had been stabbed. She says she knows

Bedfordshire
Police Call
Handling Centre

this because the Holy Mary told her

On an even more serious note, there are also several hoax calls from both men and women claiming they have been raped.

Alarmingly, a number of the calls were made from children reportedly as young as four and the operators said many of them are 'messaging about'.

Some of the calls from children include the following:

■ A girl reporting that her mum is not going to feed her

■ A young child stating somebody is dead and then starts laughing

■ Young boy, aged four, states that his mum has been shot

Although the number last year was much lower than that of the previous year - 792 - the nature of many of the calls remains disturbing.

A police spokesman said: "The call centre takes around a million calls every year - both emergency and non-emergency."

"Most of the 999 calls we receive should be dealt with by our non-emergency system and for some of these calls, people should not be phoning the police.

"On top of calls which are genuine but misdirected, we also take a large number of calls which are clearly hoax ones where the caller has deliberately contacted the emergency services.

"In these instances we do look to prosecute and in the past we have successfully prosecuted for misuse of the 999 system.

"In addition, people do need to consider whether their call is an emergency because we do deploy fast response and if a police resource is at an inappropriate or hoax call, it can then be delayed in getting to a genuine emergency."

TWO boys aged ten and 12 threatened an elderly woman with a plastic orange toy gun and attempted to rob her.

The victim, who is in her sixties, was walking along Copse Way, Luton, on Tuesday when she was approached by the youngsters.

The main attacker grabbed her bag at about 2.15pm and dragged her to the floor where he produced the fake weapon.

He demanded she hand over her money but she refused, and the two boys fled on foot towards Grampian Way.

Detective Constable Joanne Merry is keen to trace members of the public who can help identify the offenders or who witnessed the incident. The two boys are described as white and aged about ten and 12 years old. The older boy wore a dark hooded top and the other a light hooded top.

Anyone with information relating to this crime can contact DC Merry, in confidence, on 01582 394265 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

MFO aimed to spend £35k on advice from Chileans

EXCLUSIVE

A GOVERNMENT-funded community project planned to spend £35,000 to bring consultants from South America to advise on a proposed project to help the long-term unemployed in Marsh Farm, Luton.

Luton on Sunday can reveal this after a Freedom of Information request for all correspondence regarding the Marsh Farm Outreach (MFO) Organisation Workshop project that was planned to start this month but after a period of uncertainty was not given the £840,000 originally allocated for the project.

Central to the scheme was to use methods adopted in South America and South Africa to get the long-term unemployed back into work by offering them training to build up their skills in certain self-employed job opportunities, such as car mechanic, landscaping and catering. Consultants had been brought to Luton in 2005 to run training sessions about the planned project.

The project was finally turned down in August last year but after a direct meeting between MFO and the local government minister, Andrew Stunell, that decision was overturned and it was conditionally approved. The project was then suspended when it came to light MFO had signed the contract while in liquidation.

The letters reveal that as far back as 2007 the Government was concerned about the use of consultants by MFO and states in a letter: 'It is our opinion that the long-term use of Chile-based consultants is not cost effective or sustainable.'

The Government wrote further in 2008 that it was 'not convinced an eight week course can deliver sufficient skills to enable 'trainees' to run sustainable enterprises'. In 2009 the Government said that it did not believe the business plans were sufficiently robust, or that the scheme, with 45 per cent of the costs going in overheads, was value for money or that it had any long-term sustainability.

The Government stated clearly it did not believe the project was currently viable.

There was also some concern for an extra cost of £80,000 for the 13 facilities, which the Government did not understand.

In November last year Mr Stunell wrote to MFO twice, where he states he was not happy with MFO delivering the project given its financial situation and did not have confidence in their ability to deliver.

He also pointed out that the £840,000 was never specifically earmarked for the Organisation Workshop project, or MFO. In his second letter Mr Stunell addressed a late change, where a proposal was that another organisation, the Development Trust Organisation (DTA), would oversee the project with MFO doing the work.

Mr Stunell wrote that he had made it clear he was not happy with MFO managing the project and was unhappy with DTA overseeing it was not local and their involvement raised possible risks around state aid and EU regulations.

Late last year this was given board approval but the money had been allocated to other projects by Marsh Farm Community Development Trust (MFCDT).

We put questions concerning these matters and how much had been spent on consultants to MFO but it declined to comment.

All relevant papers obtained under the Freedom of Information Act, along with the questions put to MFO which it would not answer, will be on our website at www.luton-dunstable.co.uk

■ On December 26, 2010, Luton on Sunday published a story in which we referred to MFCDT as the umbrella organisation for MFO. We would like to make it clear that MFCDT is not the umbrella organisation for MFO, which is a totally separate body.

Airport quiet over security as terror threat level increases

LUTON Airport has remained tight-lipped over reports it has beefed up security in light of the increased terrorism threat level.

Extra police have been drafted in at London airports and railway terminals, and there have been reports of more officers being brought in at Luton Airport, but there is no suggestion of any intelligence of an imminent attack.

The terrorist threat specific to the UK overall remains where it has been for the past year - at the second-highest level - severe. Security officials said the upgraded threat level for major UK transport hubs is precautionary but because the overall national threat level is at severe it means a terrorist attack is highly likely.

They added that if there was any intelligence of an imminent threat or a plot under way the threat level would be raised to its highest level, critical.

A Luton Airport spokesman said: "We regard the security of our passengers, staff and the airport premises as our highest priority and we constantly work in co-operation with all relevant agencies in order to maintain the highest standards possible.

"However, for obvious reasons, it is Luton Airport's policy never to discuss any details of actual security procedures."

There are five levels of threat with low meaning an attack is unlikely; moderate where an attack is possible but not likely; substantial is when an attack is a strong possibility; severe when an attack is highly likely; and critical where an attack is expected imminently.

College boss's appointment puts icing on his CBE cake

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

A NEW principal has been appointed for Central Bedfordshire College – a week after he was awarded a CBE.

Ali Hadawi was named as the head of the college, based in Kingsway, Dunstable, on Wednesday, giving his New Year the perfect start.

His previous role was as the principal of Southend Adult Community College, where he was responsible for improving the College to achieve 'Beacon status' in its most recent Ofsted report.

Having obtained a BSc (Hons) in Electronic and Computer Engineering from the University of Birmingham and a PGCE from the University of Huddersfield, Mr Hadawi has gained extensive experience working within the Further Education sector. His hard work both nationally and internationally was what saw him recognised in the Queen's New Year Honours list.

Mr Hadawi said: "I am really delighted by the honour and the recognition from Her Majesty The Queen and also for coming to lead Central Bedfordshire College, so 2011 has been a really good start for me.

"I am looking forward to serving the people and businesses of Central Bedfordshire by delivering the best education and training in the area."

The college has three campuses – in Dunstable, Houghton Regis and Leighton Buzzard.

County's new top cop starts work

A NEW chief constable has taken up the reins at Bedfordshire Police.

Alf Hitchcock (pictured), who comes from the National College of Police Leadership at the Police Staff College in Bramshill where he was deputy chief constable, replaced Gillian Parker who retired on December 22.

He said he was 'delighted' to be appointed and optimistic for the future.

Mr Hitchcock, 51, started his career with Lancashire Constabulary in 1977 before moving to the Metropolitan Police in 2003.

He said: "During my initial visits I've been impressed by the enthusiasm of all the officers and staff. Two robbers threaten driver with a knife

A TAXI driver was robbed at knifepoint after being stopped by two men.

At about 9.30pm last Sunday the two offenders ran out in front of the taxi in Lewsey Road, Dunstable forcing the driver to stop.

The victim stopped and the men demanded to be taken elsewhere. One of them sat in the front passenger seat and threatened him with a knife while giving directions.

The men told the driver to stop in Fensome Drive, Houghton Regis, where they removed his mobile phone, a leather bag containing a small amount of cash and a wallet.

The victim managed to alert a nearby resident by sounding his car horn, forcing the offenders to flee on foot.

Detective Constable Dick Cunningham said: "I am keen to trace anyone who saw the two men in Lewsey Road prior to stopping the taxi. Both men ran into the road from opposite sides to bring the vehicle to a stop."

The main offender is described as white, aged between 17-19, 5'5" tall, of stocky build with cropped blonde hair.

If you have information you can contact Det Con Cunningham, in confidence, on 01234 842610, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

CCTV car clue to man's attack

CCTV pictures of a vehicle thought to be used by two men who stabbed a young father during the Christmas period have been released.

The 26-year-old victim was putting screenwash in his car outside his house in Brooms Road, Luton when a man struck up a conversation with him at about 12.30pm.

A few seconds later, a second man appeared armed with a knife and stabbed the victim in the neck and the stomach.

The injured man was taken to hospital and received treatment to a large gash on his neck and another stab wound to his stomach.

Police need to speak to members of the public who have seen the black 5 series BMW, which had distinctive Belgian number plates in the Brooms Road and Hart Lane area before or after the attack.

Detectives believe it is highly likely that this vehicle was parked somewhere in Luton for a considerable time before the incident.

They also need to speak to anyone who may have seen a car matching this description entering or leaving the town via the major trunk routes including the M1 or the A1 motorways and can give further information relating to its registration number.

Detective Constable Duncan Crighton is also keen to trace the weapon which may have been discarded by the offenders on their route out of the town. He said: "It is possible that the offenders may have discarded the weapon which could have been hidden by the snow that was still on the ground at this time.

"A member of the public may have noticed a discarded knife but not connected it to this incident and I would appeal to anyone who has seen anything of this nature to contact the police."

Anyone with information about the car or the weapon can contact Det Con Crighton, in confidence, on 01582 394335 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Police concerned flasher may have struck more than once

HAVE you been approached by a man indecently exposing himself?

Police are investigating two separate incidents which took place on December 20 and December 27 last year, after a man exposed himself to two teenagers in Luton.

The girls, aged 15 and 16, were in Bramingham Wood and then in an alleyway between Repton Close and Bramingham Road.

PC Gemma Widdowfield wants to hear from other people who may have been subjected to this type of behaviour in the town.

She said: "I believe similar offences have happened several times in Luton, but these may have gone unreported. I am appealing to anyone who thinks they may have been a victim to come forward and speak to the police so we can put a stop to this type of behaviour before more serious offences are committed."

Anyone with information can contact PC Widdowfield, in confidence, on 01234 841212, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Police are on the trail of male who performed indecent act

A MAN who committed an indecent act is wanted by police.

A woman who was walking her dog in Blows Downs, Dunstable, when she saw the man further along the path and believed he was urinating.

But as she got closer she noticed the man masturbating. He then ran off towards Half Moon Lane.

The offender is described as a white man, aged between 40 and 50 years old and around 5ft 9ins tall with very short silver grey hair.

He was wearing a shiny black bomber style jacket and beige trousers.

PC Andrew Sains said the victim contacted the police the same night to report this incident and was very shocked.

He said: "I am keen to trace members of the public who were in the area and saw a man matching this description, please contact the police, in complete confidence."

If you have information of the incident which took place on January 2 around 3pm contact PC Sains on 01234 841212, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Out-of-touch thinking

SIR - George Osborne blames Labour for Britain's debts. Rubbish, it was the banks' fault, and don't you forget it.

VAT is a powerful weapon to tackle debt but not when people have got no money to spend. Again the Tories are out of touch. David Cameron is supposed to be the Prime Minister of the greatest country in the world but he acts more like a hatchet man for the mob.

I have always said to my wife that the one thing that you can actually see for your council tax money is having your rubbish taken away. But now it seems that they can't even get this simple task right.

In the good old days, binmen used to come into your back garden, pick up your dustbin, and carry it over their shoulder.

Now the bins have wheels on them, and we do half the job for them.

We sort out the rubbish, recycling, glass, and garden cuttings then put the right bin out on the pavement. I do not think fortnightly collections are a good idea.

The rats will feed and breed on our rubbish then we will all get bubonic plague. Maybe then the council will take our rubbish away with out too much fuss.

John Tucker
Bracklesham Gardens, Luton

Poor shoulder burden

SIR - The imposition of the rise in VAT from 17.5 per cent to 20 per cent, has highlighted graphically the 'could not care a jot' approach of the Coalition Government from both a political trust perspective and a moral point of view.

During the election campaign, the Lib Dems produced a poster in relation to VAT entitled 'The Tory ticking time bomb' telling everyone of the Tories' intentions to raise VAT, which of course was fiercely denied at the time by the Conservatives.

Little did we know that not only did the Tories have in place that ticking timebomb, but their junior coalition partners would eventually light the blue touch paper and impact the consequences of it upon the poorest sections of the community.

We have thousands of our fellow citizens up and down the country already in fuel poverty and the VAT increase does not ease their burden - it just makes it worse.

We see transportation costs escalating whereby it costs more to get food into our shops and that in turn pushes up food prices.

And who will struggle to deal with the impact of that?

Yes, yet again, the poorest sections of our community.

We have just watched the big major energy companies prior to the VAT increase push above inflation price increases through.

Twin that with the VAT increase and yet again it will hit the poorest sections of our community.

So are we now going to believe this Government when we are told that the VAT increase is not regressive and we are to believe that the financial burdens are being distributed out with care and fairness?

Liberal Democrats' role defended

SIR - I usually enjoy reading Steve Lowe's weekly column, with his amusing and incisive views on what makes the world go round.

But I cannot resist the temptation to respond to his piece in your January 2 edition, in particular his rather liverish (and inaccurate) attack on the Liberal Democrats and their role in the Coalition Government.

As Steve says, no single party won last year's General Election - Labour certainly lost it, but nobody won it.

The decision taken by Nick Clegg and his colleagues to join a coalition with the Tories, who had won most seats in Parliament but not an outright majority, was a responsible one.

Steve suggests the decision was opportunistic, but I would argue that it was the right decision for the country.

The biggest challenge facing any incoming government was the huge budget deficit bequeathed to us by Gordon Brown and his friends, including Ed Miliband, who had failed to take the necessary action to bring public expenditure back under control (although it is interesting to note that the difference between what Labour promised it would cut in its 2009 pre-budget report and what the Coalition Government actually cut in their budget last year is just £1.1bn out of a total budget of more than £750bn).

It was important for decisive action to be taken to restore international confidence, gain the support of the financial markets, and prevent the country from sliding into the economic mess which Greece, Ireland and other European countries are in.

No single party could have taken the necessary action on its own to reduce the huge borrowing deficit which was hanging over us, and which would be crippling the lives and futures of our children and grandchildren.

The Lib Dems took the brave decision to join a coalition to begin dealing with this mess, and to use the opportunity to introduce a genuinely different, fairer and more progressive form of politics into British life.

Steve accuses the Lib Dems of being more concerned about ministerial seats than policy (by which I presume he means the recent decision on university tuition fees although I hope that he will concede that, unpopular as it is, the new system is much fairer than that introduced by Labour).

But Steve forgets, or rather ignores, that in the eight short months they have been in government, the Lib Dems have already succeeded in carrying out a large proportion of the pledges they made prior to last year's election, and for which we have been campaigning for many years - the income tax threshold is being raised, so that by 2015 800,000 low-paid workers will be taken out of income tax altogether; an extra £3.6bn of cash is being put into schools funding (the 'pupil premium'), giving directly to schools an additional £430 from April for every child on free school meals or in local authority care, with this sum rising to £1,720 by 2015; ID cards scrapped, together with the intrusive national database being prepared to store more than 50 pieces of personal information on every one of us; the restoration of the link between earnings and state pensions, increasing the value of old age pensions; a tax on bank profits, and new measures to close the loopholes used by the super-rich to avoid tax; a huge investment in green energy, including offshore and rural wind farms; the scrapping of the third runway for Heathrow; and finally, a referendum in May on a fairer voting system, which, while it certainly falls short of proportional representation, will ensure that every MP elected is supported by at least 50 per cent of those who cast their votes.

I'm not sure how Steve views this programme of achievements, but I see it as a real and decisive force for good within government, influencing policy and introducing many of the progressive values which we Lib Dems have been arguing for.

Whether this new form of politics endures in our national life will be up to the voters.

But I and my fellow Liberal Democrats are proud that, after so many years of being put down or ignored, we now have a real opportunity of delivering what we have fought for and believed in a genuinely different and fairer future for this country.

Sorry if that upsets you, Steve.
Cllr Barry Neale
Chairman of Luton Borough Council's Luton Liberal Democrats

which showed that 12 per cent of businesses said that savvy IT investment had enabled them to become more responsive.

And a further 21 per cent highlighted how it had helped them adapt to changing market conditions.

While it would be easy for businesses in austere times to focus only on making savings, companies across the South East should be congratulated for their desire to continue trailblazing.

It's this innovation and creativity that ensures they can continue to build brand loyalty, enhance customer service and challenge the status quo.

As one of the most vibrant economies in the UK, businesses in the South East have a lot to look forward to in 2011.

Luton is alive and well

SIR - It is nice to see so many people from the area being awarded MBEs, OBEs and CBEs in the New Year's Honours List.

Luton is always getting a bad press in the national media but this will show there are so many people who live or work in the town who are doing great things - and their success is being celebrated nationally.

Hopefully, this achievement will show people in the town what they can do and what they can aspire to be.

If it wasn't for people like Cllr Desline Stewart, hundreds of young people may have been left without anywhere to go, and Dr Jeune Guishard-Pine's work has no doubt helped so many people who have been victims of horrendous abuse.

I hope the national media will not skirt over these honours for the people of Luton and Bedfordshire.

They are the people who do not normally get praise for what they do but being awarded these honours will highlight their work and hopefully inspire young people to work hard and to help others.

Jay Snowden
Luton

This cut is just wrong

SIR - I totally agree with the views expressed GMB union organiser Warren Kenny in last week's paper (January 2).

LuDun workshop in Liscombe Road, Dunstable, provides vital work for 24 disabled people in the community and needs to be spared.

Where else will they be able to work?

Understandably, staff along with their family members are very worried about its fate.

Central Bedfordshire Council would save just £300,000 if it closes - not even a dent in the large cuts they have to make in this year's budget.

Would it not be more worthwhile to keep this vital project open?

I admire the union's commitment to employees and its pledge to take staff to any council office to hear personally when the money will be made available to save LuDun.

I hope Central Beds makes the right decision on February 8 and keeps LuDun open.

Speak out on fuel rise

SIR - The New Year sees more pain at the pumps for drivers, with rises in fuel duty and VAT adding around 4p to the cost of a litre of petrol or diesel.

But these increases don't just hurt the driver and our hard-pressed haulage industry, they produce price rises at the shops for everyone.

Before the General Election, David Cameron complained about how the previous government had hampered drivers with various taxes.

He added that he had to do things very differently and make life easier for families facing sky-high motoring bills. He even indicated that he could help families by cutting fuel taxes when global fuel prices rise.

It is time to take Mr Cameron at his word. The Association of British Drivers calls on the Government to scrap above-inflation fuel duty rises set for the next three years, and also plans for road pricing for lorries.

I urge readers to contact their MP at the House of Commons, London SW1A 0AA or via www.parliament.uk
Brian Macdowall
Campaign Director for the Association of British Drivers

Looking forward to 2011

SIR - Businesses in the South East are some of the most forward-thinking in the country when it comes to technology.

Rather than looking at how it can help save them money, these business leaders are instead focusing on how technology can help them get ahead of the competition.

Youth centre 'fit for the 21st century'

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON

christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

HERE'S a sneak peek at Luton's new £4.7 million youth facility – if it gets the go-ahead.

TOKKO will be a five-storey building based on Gordon Street, subject to planning permission and the final review of plans by the Department for Education in March.

The project is led by Voluntary Action Luton (VAL) and construction work is due to begin as early as July.

The centre will be a one-stop information shop for young people providing a wide range of services and activities including a climbing wall, training and counselling rooms, a games and IT area, a fashion and beauty studio and a cafe open to the public.

VAL director Everton Blake said: "We've had to wait six months to hear whether the project was still going ahead but it's been worth the wait."

"TOKKO has not only been designed by young people but they will also have an active role in managing it from agreeing the opening times to deciding what services and activities are available. And together with our partners we are determined to make it a huge success."

An artist's impression of the TOKKO project

Cllr Tahir Khan said: "We are delighted that the Government has recognised the potential of this project and is continuing to support it by providing capital funds."

"It's fantastic to see so many young people are committed to TOKKO, and that we are helping them to create a youth facility fit for the 21st century."

A planning application with a proposal to open the centre seven days a week from 10am to 11pm will be submitted to the council on January 17.

Record low level for council rent arrears

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
sophiescott@lutononsunday.co.uk

RENT arrears are at their lowest ever according to Luton Borough Council.

They have fallen from £748,000 in the last financial year to just under £554,000 so far this time.

The council's housing income team has changed the way in which it handles rent arrears by contacting council tenants as soon as they fall into the red.

Residents are now offered payment plans rather than a demand for money.

Cllr Waheed Akbar (pictured) said: "Rent arrears are the main cause for tenants to be evicted, so reducing arrears means fewer people lose their homes."

"I'm pleased to see the hard work of the housing income team paying off.

"The approach used is geared to helping tenants during this difficult economic climate, with an emphasis on providing debt advice and support rather than eviction. Most organisations are seeing debts soar but the council is bucking this trend and this demonstrates what fantastic results can be achieved when we work more closely with our customers."

The reduction in rent arrears has also allowed the council to save money and resulted in fewer high-cost legal actions to recover outstanding debts.

It also results in more money being available to spend on services such as improved living conditions and repairs for council tenants.

Tenants who are experiencing difficulties in paying their rent should contact Luton Borough Council's Income Team on 01582 546600.

Shops at risk as HMV announces closures

THE FUTURE of Luton's HMV and Waterstone's stores are up in the air after HMV Group announced the closure of 60 stores on Wednesday.

The company blamed the bad weather and challenging trading conditions for its declining sales and it is expected 40 HMV branches will close, along with 20 Waterstone's bookshops, over the next 12 months.

However, neither of the companies is able to confirm which branches across the country will be closing.

HMV spokesman Gennaro Castaldo said: "I can't comment specifically on the future of the store in Luton. As a town, Luton is ideally somewhere we would like to continue to trade in."

A Waterstone's spokesman said: "Around 20 of those 60 stores closing will be Waterstone's."

"We have no detail which stores will be affected."

A SKIP hire company owner has been fined after admitting running an illegal waste site.

Nicholas Fletcher, 23, of Church Road, Streatley, appeared at Bedford Magistrates' Court on December 31 after being arrested by police for failing to previously attend court.

The court was told that despite advice from the Environment Agency and eventually a notice to remove the waste, Fletcher continued to operate his business, Dunstable Skips, at Clophill Road, in Maulden.

District Judge Nicholas Leigh-Smith banned Fletcher from driving for six months to stop him carrying out illegal activity as well as fining him £210 and ordering him to pay £150 costs.

The site came to the attention of the Agency in October 2009 through an anonymous report of illegal waste activity and officers investigating found waste in skips and on the ground.

Sarah Nicholson, prosecuting, said that on subsequent visits to the site there was always waste in skips and on the ground which included building material, wood, metals, plastics, and sometimes hazardous waste. Fletcher told officers that he knew he was breaking the law but would not have been able to stay in business if he had paid to be properly approved.

Mrs Nicholson told the court that even up to August 17 last year Fletcher was still carrying on his business without a permit and in a way that could have an adverse effect on the environment, particularly the hazardous waste.

She said: "These offences were financially motivated. The cost of permitting this site would have been significant because before a permit can be granted, the site would have to be altered."

After the hearing, Agency officer Rob Stevenson said: "Unpermitted sites have an unfair advantage over those which comply with the regulations to protect the environment."

"They undercut competitors which leads to more and more businesses operating illegally leaving the environment at risk."

HOME: Mary Seacoles Housing Association on Brantwood Road

IT is tough enough for some of Luton's youth, but what if you were to find yourself homeless and with no one to turn to?

That's where a hostel comes in. Mary Seacole Housing Association was created by Cllr Desline Stewart after she started taking in young people at her home in 1985.

When too many were turning up, she was granted Government funding to buy new premises in 1986, the first of which was in Brantwood Road, Luton, where they are now based.

It has been so successful, Cllr Stewart was awarded an MBE in the New Year's honours list.

With six properties in Luton, they help mainly 16-25 year olds by giving them a place to live while they wait to find somewhere for themselves.

There are three hostels in Brantwood Road, one on Ashburnham Road, another in Alma Link and a men-only facility in Wauluds Bank Drive.

Project manager Audrey Lewis has been working for the association since 1995 and has seen it grow and grow.

She said: "You think these young people will have been in trouble with the police but most of the time it is family situations. For example, someone's mother could have died and their dad remarried and the child doesn't get on with their new step-mum so they have to leave.

"We give them all the help they need to become independent enough to live on their own.

"Most of them need structure. We make sure they all do things like keep their rooms tidy and even simple things like saying 'good morning' to us each day.

"There is a mutual respect. We show them respect and we get it back. It is a very rewarding job."

Deputy co-ordinator and training manager Maureen Randall said: "We take a holistic approach to how we train our young people.

"Most of our clients probably dropped out of schools so we do things that will help them with their CV. They get their numeracy and literacy up to GCSE level which they can put on their CV.

"We also do things such as drug and alcohol awareness as well as sexual health as these are the kind of things they will deal with in life."

Mary Seacole Housing Association has three different stages for its hostels, and depending on how independent the residents are will determine which one they stay in.

For those who need the most structure, they will be offered a room in a stage one hostel such as Mary Seacole House in Brantwood Road. When they need more independence they are moved onto higher stages.

Those close to moving out completely will be put into a stage three house such as the one in Ashburnham Road where they will have their own keys and are helped by a resettlement officer. Residents can live in the hostels for up to two years.

Once they have their own place to live they are still given support by the charity and are free to come and visit their resettlement officer for help with any problems which may come up.

Staff speak proudly of the residents they have helped, with some hoping to go to university next year and others starting full-time jobs. For more information about Mary Seacole Housing Association call 01582 415651.

SUCCESS
STORY:
Louise
Spink

CASE STUDY:

ONE young woman spoke about her success of living in the hostel at Stewart House.

Louise Spink, 24, was left with no other option back in 2005 when she found herself homeless.

At 19, her mum had moved away and Louise was living with a boyfriend before she decided to leave.

At first she was living at the house in Brantwood Road before being moved to Stewart House, in Alma Link.

She said: "I went into the hostel and while I was there I used the training facilities and went to regular training sessions where I did computer courses as well as others."

"I met quite a few people there, the atmosphere was really good. Most people associate hostels with bad things like drugs but it was never like that when I was there."

"I got a flat while I was there, which I am still at now and have lived at for more than four years."

Louise has been working for Luton on Sunday for six months and has recently been promoted to senior classified sales advisor.

ANPR system helps to catch car thieves

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON

christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.ukTWO stolen vehicles worth an estimated total of £16,000 were seized last month with the help of a number plate recognition system.

In December, Bedfordshire Police's Intercept Team made 47 arrests across the county, mostly relating to drugs, theft, assault, drink-driving and driving while disqualified.

The Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) system helped capture £1,400 in money laundering cash and £3,000 worth of Class A drugs. Non-payment of fines totalling £250 was also recovered. The intercept unit was set up in February last year to target criminals through their use of the county's roads and it is monitored 24 hours a day.

ANPR works by using cameras which read number plates and compare them against a variety of databases, including the Police National Computer.

Sergeant Ian Stoughton, of the ANPR Intercept Team, said: "December was an extremely busy month for the team. In addition to our regular patrols we also joined with police forces from the eastern region to carry out a joint operation in Essex, which will be replicated in Bedfordshire later this year.

"We also carried out various operations across the county including Operation Jackdaw, the force's drink-drive campaign, burglary campaigns Operation Dunbar and Operation Peak, as well as working on Operation Vision in Houghton Regis. All in all, we had a busy and very successful month."

If anyone has any information about crime they can contact Bedfordshire Police on 01234 841212 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

COME DINE WITH US: Curry Garden staff show off their trophy after topping the poll as the best Indian restaurant in the area

Curry Garden tops our readers' ballot

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON
christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

CURRY Garden has topped the polls and has been voted the best Indian restaurant in town.

The venue in Katherine Drive, Dunstable, has been running for 21 years and was given the thumbs-up by 30 per cent of Luton on Sunday readers who voted in our quest to find the hottest Indian eating house and takeaway in town. It first opened in 1990 and its owner, Shamsul Alam, 43, said he and his two colleagues were delighted with the award.

He said: "I am the joint owner with two colleagues and we have a staff of ten people who have been working very hard for a long time.

"Business is going very well, we are always busy and we have even expanded the site to increase capacity. At the moment we can hold up to 74 people. We are always creating new dishes and putting them on the menu for the customers."

"I would like to thank every individual customer who has given their support to us. We really appreciate their support and hope they continue to do so.

"We will be working hard to keep up our quality of service to them."

New centre to offer better lifesaving aid

BY CHRISTINA JOHNSON
christina.johnson@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE people will be able to learn vital lifesaving skills thanks to a new training centre set to open tomorrow.

The St John Ambulance is to have a base at Dunstable Community Fire Station, in Breviers Hill, which was opened in January 2009.

The modern building offers lift access and improved facilities for those being trained in first aid.

Sue Skoyles, regional training manager for the East of England, said: "The Luton training centre will be closed allowing us to accommodate eight more students in our new training room."

"There is also some on-site parking as opposed to Luton where there was none. In addition, there is local on-road parking nearby as well as a large car park only a few minutes away."

"We are confident that the new training centre will offer improved facilities and surroundings for our students."

"This will allow us to continue to train people to make a difference between a life saved and a life lost thanks to first aid."

Thousands of the people trained by St John Ambulance across the UK last year went on to offer their skills and time to be the difference right in the heart of their community.

Volunteers provide first aid at public events, and can also act as Community First Responders who attend emergency calls and

ON THE MOVE: St John Ambulance training will be moving its home to Dunstable Community Fire Station provide care until the ambulance arrives, to provide patient transport, or as back up to ambulance services during major emergencies.

Hitting the fairways and greens of Tunisia

TRAVEL FEATURE

TUNISIA

AN episode of 'Last of the Summer Wine' was not what I expected to see when I turned on the TV in my hotel room in Tunisia. Ironically, the point I switched it on was where Barry Wilkinson was stressing out about his golfing travails, which set a good tone for this break.

Aside from a four-year stint as a venue on the European Tour, Tunisia has never been regarded as a place where golfers think of going for a winter getaway.

That could soon be about to change.

At present the North African nation has just ten courses and around 600 active golfers, but plans are already afoot to double the number of courses by 2020.

Already a popular destination among French, German and Scandinavian golfers, Tunisia is now hoping to lure visitors from the UK away from Morocco during the winter months.

With temperatures of 24 degrees centigrade during November it's a tempting prospect, while players of all levels will find plenty of challenges throughout the various courses in the country - even weekend hackers like myself.

The city of Hammamet on the east coast is setting itself up as the centre of Tunisian golf, with the neighbouring Citrus and Yasmine Valley venues both helping to promote the sport in the area.

Constructed in 1992, Citrus has two 18-hole par 72 courses in Les Oliviers and La Foret, as well as the nine hole executive course.

With trees and dense undergrowth lining the fairway and many of the greens protected by a myriad of bunkers, La Foret will test even the lowest handicappers.

Next door at Yasmine, the course is undergoing renovation with a new

Info station

MARC flew from London Heathrow with Tunisair (prices start from £170 including taxes).

He resided at the Alhambra Thalasso, Yasmine Hammamet (double rooms start from £34 per night).

He also stayed at the Residence Hotel, Gammarth (double garden view rooms start from £266 per night)

Nicklaus Design 18-hole facility set to be completed in October. The brand new par 68 Tahadi Course, including an island green on the short par four sixth, will open ahead of the planned remodelling of the current par 72 Classic Course.

With a new airport being completed

45km away in Enfidha - set to open for regular flights this year - and plenty of hotels within easy reach of the courses, everything is in place for the region to be at the forefront of the Tunisian golf tourism sector.

Being the headquarters of the Desert Fox himself, Erwin Rommel, during World War Two it is perhaps not surprising that Hammamet is where Germans travel to in droves.

Still, at least they haven't taken to putting their towels over chairs in the bar to reserve them for later just yet. An hour's drive away in Sousse is the picturesque El Kanaoui course which hosted the Tunisian Open from 1982-85, as well as an event on the Seniors Tour.

In close proximity is Monastir and a short hop across the road from the city's airport is the Palm Links course. Situated near the beach it is a links style course, with the long holes dotted with cross-bunkers that punished any wayward drives from the tees.

But the closest thing to a traditional

British links course has to be the one attached to the Residence Hotel in the capital city of Tunis.

Built on a salt marsh, it is characterised by several long straight par fours that seem to be popular in this part of the world, as well as tough water hazards on the back nine. Make sure you bring plenty of spare balls.

Tunis is also home to the popular Carthage Federal Golf Course, which is the oldest in the country having been built in 1927 and located in the heart of the city.

It's nice to be able to play golf in your shorts during the winter months and flying back home there was a tinge of sadness knowing that the clubs were now being put away until about April.

Oh, and if you do go out to Tunisia for a golfing break and find any Dunlop DDH balls lying around in the rough then I'd be most grateful if you would return them to me.

Free training to boost career*BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COMPANY is offering free taster courses for the secretarial and accounting profession.

Pitman Training Luton wants to help locals seeking to boost their career by encouraging them to take a Free Career Taster Course, so they have the confidence to return back to work, do better in their current role or launch a brand new career.

Centre manager Conrad Wilson said: 'No other training company or college in Luton or Bedfordshire does more to help you in your career than Pitman Training Luton.

"All our students receive a free CV Makeover to help them gain more interviews and free interview training so that students walk into the interview room brimming with confidence.

"We've also been working hard to establish close links with recruitment agencies to help our students into better paying jobs. I believe that there's never been a better time to boost your career.

In as little as ten weeks you can become an accomplished secretary or bookkeeper.

"We exist for only one purpose - to help you succeed. We shape careers and we help local people get into work by giving them the skills to do the job."

Dawn Bell, of Dunstable, who took the accounting technician diploma, said: "I turned to Pitman Training Luton when I became disillusioned with hairdressing. I was always interested in finance and wanted a career change but I did not know which way to turn. I took an Accounting Technician taster course and this convinced me I could do the full course.

"I passed with distinction and within seven days of graduating, I got a bookkeeping role at a busy local company."

All the courses are self-paced and broken down into bite-sized chunks that you can learn in your own time.

This is the reason why 97 per cent of their students pass with a distinction, many of whom go on to earn £25,000 to £30,000 per year.

Pitman Training is ranked by Superbrands as one of the Top 10 Training Organisations in the UK.

Open days are running throughout January. To find out more information, visit www.pitmanluton.co.uk or call 01582 402 622 Pitman Training can be found at 22 Ashton Square, Dunstable, or Regency House, 85-87 George Street,

The Federation was formed in 2007, when Barnfield broke new ground sponsoring two significantly underperforming secondary schools and creating academies. In under three years, GCSE results have more than tripled and from a position of special measures, they are now judged as 'outstanding' and 'good' by Ofsted. These are the highest results achieved in the history of these schools. To continue this success and further develop and expand the Federation a new Barnfield trust model has been created.

Premier League sides are sent crashing

WEST BROM, Blackpool and Sunderland joined Newcastle as Premier League casualties in the FA Cup yesterday.

West Brom were sunk by Reading as the in-form Shane Long grabbed the only goal, while Blackpool lost 2-0 to Southampton thanks to Lee Barnard and Guly Do Prado.

Sunderland were beaten 2-1 at home by Notts County. Craig Westcarr and Lee Hughes put the League One side in charge before Darren Bent pulled one back.

Arsenal avoided home defeat to Leeds as Cesc Fabregas' late penalty cancelled out one from Robert Snodgrass.

Mick McCarthy's Wolves could not follow up their midweek league win over Chelsea as Billy Sharp and James Hayter scored to hold them to a 2-2 draw at Doncaster. Nenad Milijas and Stephen Hunt responded for the visitors. Kyle Walker, Marc Albrighton and Stiliyan Petrov were on target for Aston Villa in a 3-1 win at Sheffield United, while Kevin Davies and Johan Elmander scored Bolton's late goals in a 2-0 win against York.

Stoke face an away replay after a 1-1 draw with Cardiff, but Everton were 5-1 winners at Scunthorpe, and Fulham also enjoyed a big win as they saw off League One Peterborough 6-2, Diomansy Kamara helped himself to a hat-trick.

Wigan won 3-2 at Hull, West Ham beat Barnsley 2-0 and Matt Derbyshire bagged a brace in Birmingham's 4-1 win at Millwall.

Middlesbrough were dumped out 2-1 by

Burton, while Junior Hoilett got the only goal as Blackburn beat QPR 1-0.

High-flying Norwich lost 1-0 at home to Leyton Orient, and Portsmouth lost 3-1 to Brighton after having striker Dave Kitson sent off for violent conduct.

Sheffield Wednesday also caused an upset as Gary Teale, Neil Mellor and Clinton Morrison netted in a 3-0 win at Bristol City.

Swansea were 4-0 winners over Colchester while Watford came from a goal down to beat Hartlepool 4-1 and Burnley defeated Port Vale 4-2.

Coventry were 2-1 winners over Crystal Palace while Luke Chambers grabbed a late winner to help Nottingham Forest beat Preston by the same margin.

Huddersfield beat Dover 2-0 and Torquay upset League One side Carlisle 1-0.

Toon stunned by super Stevenage

STEVENAGE produced one of the great FA Cup shocks when they knocked Newcastle out at Broadhall Lane last night.

A Mike Williamson own-goal and efforts by Michael Bostwick and Peter Winn saw off the Premier League stars with Joey Barton providing a late consolation.

Newcastle keeper Tim Krul had to pull off a wonderful save from Bostwick in the first half. Krul dived full length to his right to tip away a fierce 25-yard shot from Bostwick after 31 minutes to keep the game goalless at half-time.

But Stevenage shocked the Premier League side with the first goal after 49 minutes.

The impressive Long came inside and unleashed a shot which looked to be going wide until it took a huge deflection off defender Williamson and nestled in the Newcastle net.

It was no more than Stevenage deserved, although Newcastle replied almost immediately with a chip from Kevin Nolan which saw Chris Day back-peddalling to tip the ball over the crossbar.

But Newcastle were in big trouble after 55 minutes when

NEWCASTLE 1

Bostwick extended Stevenage's lead.

This time Fabrizio Coloccini came sliding in for the tackle, but the ball slid clear and Bostwick pounced to send a low shot rifling past Krul and into the net off the foot of the post.

It got worse for Newcastle when substitute Cheik Tiote lunged two-footed at Jon Ashton in a moment of madness, and referee Andre Mariner had no option but to show the red card.

Stevenage might have extended their lead when Lawrie Wilson went almost clean through only for his shot to be smothered.

Newcastle pushed forward in the final 10 minutes, urged on by Barton in particular, and he produced a stunning 35-yard right-foot shot strike in injury time to give Newcastle hope.

But even then Stevenage came back with a fantastic finish from Winn to make it 3-1 and clinch glory for the League Two side.

Reds turn to hero Dalglish

LIVERPOOL'S new owners finally put an end to Roy Hodgson's miserable six months in charge at Anfield in ruthless fashion and immediately installed club legend Kenny Dalglish to take over in the interim.

Although Hodgson knew he was on borrowed time after New England Sports Ventures suggested after last week's home defeat to Wolves they were looking for alternatives, he would have expected to remain in charge for today's FA Cup tie at Manchester United.

By bringing in Dalglish, widely regarded as the club's best ever player – and their last manager to win the championship in 1990 – NESV have bought themselves some time, and set up an epic meeting with old foe Sir Alex Ferguson this lunchtime.

Principal owner John Henry said: "We are delighted that Kenny Dalglish has agreed to step in and manage the team for the FA Cup tie at Old Trafford, and for the remainder of the season."

Saints stunned as Tigers extend lead

LEICESTER NORTHAMPTON 27
26

LEICESTER strengthened their grip at the top of the Aviva Premiership after a pulsating encounter at Welford Road.

The game was in the balance until the final quarter, but the Tigers pack were too strong as the Northampton line-out fell apart. The Saints' cause was not helped by the loss of England stars Courtney Lawes and Chris Ashton early in the first half.

Louis Deacon and Marcos Ayerza scored tries for Leicester, with Ben Foden crossing for the Saints.

SEVENTH HEAVEN: Scorer Matt Yang who finished off Luton's try-filled afternoon, while Dan Blinkhorn (inset) bag a brace

Debut delight for Murphy and Mahendran

NATIONAL LEAGUE THREE MIDLANDS
LUTON 47
BURTON 10

LUTON belatedly rang in the New Year with a superb seven-score performance and a grandstand finish, running in four of them in the last five minutes.

There were fine debut performances from former Ampthill player Joe Murphy, who kicked ten points and Tom Mahendran who bagged the penultimate try.

The hosts started quickly with Dan Blinkhorn dotting down three minutes in with Murphy converting, but Tom Barlow levelled the scores nine minutes later.

Murphy penalties either side of tries from Blinkhorn's second and one for Mike Weston gave them plenty of breathing room at the break. A penalty for Barlow reduced the arrears before Luton's Matt Allen and a Burton player were sin-binned in separate incidents.

Shaun Mahoney's score secured the bonus point before Jimmy Spiers, Mahendran and Matt Yang crossed over with Murphy converting three of the four.

MIDLANDS ONE EAST

DUNSTABLIANS started their 2011 league campaign in similar vein to their 2010 autumn efforts, suffering a 35-13 defeat away at Derbyshire side, Ilkeston.

This was Dunstablians twelfth defeat out of 12 league fixtures this season, and with only one bonus point to show for their efforts and with just over half the season still remaining, the summer break must seem a long way away.

MIDLANDS TWO EAST (SOUTH)

JACK HANKY's last-minute winner saw STOCKWOOD PARK win 30-26 against Lutterworth.

The first half saw Martin Rowe, Hanky and Alex Hunter get on the scoresheet with Hanky also scoring a penalty to make it a tight 18-12 half-time score.

Jason Carr got the second period off to a great start scoring a try with Steve Pollock converting, but Lutterworth took control and the lead making it 26-25 with minutes left.

Stockwood missed a late penalty but as all seemed lost, Hanky snatched the ball and made a run into the corner to touch down and also secure a bonus point.

White delight after Dees five called up

FIVE Dunstablians Under-16 players and one from Luton have all been selected for this year's Midlands squad for the Divisional Festival which will be played at Broadstreet RFC near Coventry from February 4 to 6.

Reece Marshall, Josh Skelcey, Lewis Jones, Julian Hensman and Clarke Davidson all come from the Bidwell Park club's youth set-up, while Brandon Lewsey from Stopsley High in Luton has also been named in the 24-man squad that will also now go on to trial for England U16s. Dees chairman Graham White said: "Dunstablians are very proud to have achieved this great honour, with lads that have been associated with the club from a very young age and where they learnt their basic rugby playing skills." The Midlands U16s will play the South West on February 4 and London and the South East on February 6.

Luton's tale of ifs and buts might be one for the X-Files

BLUE SQUARE BET PREMIER
BATH CITY 0
LUTON TOWN 0

LUTON Town dropped their first points of the year as they were held to a goalless draw at Bath City in a match where they failed to make their chances count.

Claude Gnaka had the best opportunity of the game as he somehow missed from four yards and Town hit the woodwork twice in the second half with Drury hitting the post and Lawless smashing the bar.

The West Country side have only lost twice at home all season and they could have claimed victory over the Hatters had Lee Phillips been more clinical after going through one-on-one with Tyler.

Bath's visit to Kenilworth Road back in October marked a milestone day for Luton Town as the Hatters celebrated its 125-year anniversary and yesterday's match also had its own moment of celebration as Cerys Matthews – former singer with Catatonia who shot to fame in the nineties with hit song 'Mulder and Scully' – made an appearance on the Twerton Park pitch, prior to kick-off, after marrying her manager and Luton Town supporting husband Steve Abbott in Cardiff on Friday.

In the third minute Claude Gnaka could have made it three goals in as many games as he pipped keeper Carl Pentney to Jake Howell's delivery but the Frenchman's header, despite dipping, flew just over the bar.

Town dominated the first ten minutes and Andy Drury had a great chance to test Pentney – however, the midfielder opted to cross instead of shoot and his delivery eluded everyone.

But City soon found their feet and nearly caught Luton out as Sido Jombati nodded the ball on across the five-yard box from Marc Canham's corner kick but nobody was there for a simple tap-in.

Moments later, a brilliant diving save from Pentney kept the score level after the ball bounced around the Bath penalty box before falling to Danny

Manny signs up for some Capital Punishment

MANNY OSHUNRINDE has been added to the bill for Graham Earl's first ever promotion at London's home of boxing later this month.

The Capital Punishment show at The York Hall in Bethnal Green is the former WBU world champion's third show as a promoter and is set to feature a title fights as Earl's super middleweight fighter Paul Morby defending his Southern Area title against Daniel Cadman.

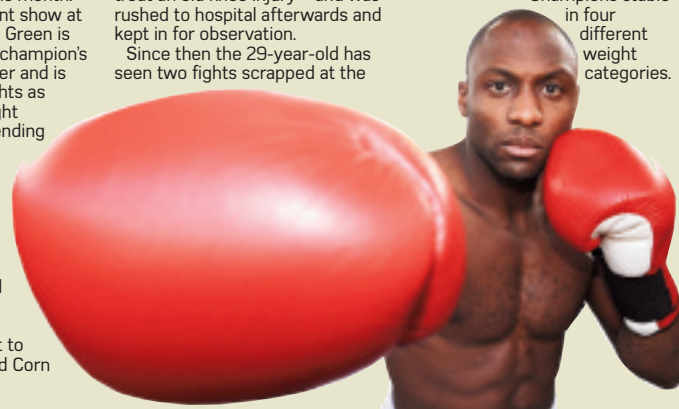

Luton-based former American college basketball player Oshunrinde (pictured) has had a stuttering start to his professional boxing career after his debut ended in a third round knock-out defeat to Brian Cusack at Bedford Corn Exchange.

Despite a promising opening two rounds he suffered an allergic reaction to codeine – taken to treat an old knee injury – and was rushed to hospital afterwards and kept in for observation.

Since then the 29-year-old has seen two fights scrapped at the last minute. Also on the Saturday, January 22 card will be six other pugilists from Earl's House of Champions stable in four different weight categories.

MISSED CHANCES: Claude Gnaka (main picture) who somehow headed wide from several yards out and (inset) newlywed former Catatonia singer Cerys Matthews and her Luton fan husband Steve Abbott Crow. But the forward's attempt was too close to the City keeper.

Adie Harris came close to giving the hosts the lead, his 35-yard effort only narrowly too high.

Howells then came to Luton's rescue as he outpaced Sekani Simpson to intercept Jombati's cross with the Bath defender poised for a simple tap-in.

City nearly broke the deadlock again shortly afterwards as a quick corner kick allowed Canham to fire a rocket of a shot marginally wide but Danny Webb was charging into the box and came close to diverting the shot into the net.

Gnaka was left wondering how he didn't put the Hatters ahead after he somehow headed Drury's corner wide from four yards out in what has to be a contender for the miss of the season.

The Frenchman had to wait until three minutes after the break to have his next effort on goal as he cut in from the right but his effort from just inside the box was easily gathered by Pentney.

Lee Phillips should have put Bath in front after Adam Connolly intercepted George Pilkington on the halfway line to put the striker through one-on-one with Mark Tyler with a chip over the defence but the forward fired wide despite being unchallenged.

Luton responded with a flurry of chances with Zdenek Kroca heading straight at Pentney from Drury's corner and then the keeper had to be at his best to save Crow's 25-yard curling effort.

The Hatters were now dominant and charging forward in wave after wave of attack and Drury came agonisingly close to giving Luton the lead as his a low drive struck the post. The rebound fell to Amari Morgan-Smith but his off-balance stab was well over the unguarded goal. The forward had another attempt moments later but his 20-yard drive drifted wide.

Luton could do anything but score. Despite great build-up work by Keith Keane and a through-pass by Jason Walker, Drury failed to slot past Pentney as he raced one-on-one with the keeper.

But as Luton pressed forward they were close to being exposed on the break as Jim Rollo played a clever ball to Jombati for the midfielder to fire against the crossbar and fortunately the ball rebounded to safety.

With seven minutes remaining, Drury played in an advancing Gleeson and the defender let off a fierce effort but the ball flew wide of the goal with Pentney desperately trying to get across his goal and Adam Connolly nearly had the final say as his 30-yard rocket narrowly missed.

Alex Lawless had his head in his hands as he nearly stole all three points in stoppage time as he struck the bar with a powerful right-footed volley.

Barton on the Ball but bad luck denies them victory

ZAMARETTO DIVISION ONE CENTRAL
NORTH GREENFORD UNITED 2
BARTON ROVERS 2

VISITING Barton will feel they deserved much more out of this game than just a point.

The first half saw no chances but Barton were firmly in control and were frustrated to be level at half-time.

Greenford took the lead on 53 minutes, with Russell Ball heading an equaliser ten minutes later.

Sam Spencer then assisted DJ Djurokic who hit an unexpected 20-yard strike to put Barton into the lead. Ball was then unlucky to hit the inside of the post.

On 85 minutes North Greenford scored a scrambled effort to steal a point from a disappointed Barton.

Dunstable Town see their chance drift away in the dying moments

SOUTH MIDLANDS PREMIER

NUMEROUS controversial decisions hampered this game as visiting Hadley snatched victory in the dying minutes from DUNSTABLE TOWN.

After 30 minutes Town's Kerran Birch lobbed in a cross which drifted all the way into the back of the net after the goalkeeper was 'blinded' by the sunlight.

On 41 minutes an indirect free kick was awarded inside Dunstable's area after goalkeeper Paul Taylor's dissent. The resulting goal levelled the scores at the break.

Hadley then had a goal disallowed for offside.

But on 89 minutes Hadley found the back of the net again, this time with claims of handball which were waved away.

SOUTH MIDLANDS DIV ONE

AFC DUNSTABLE'S match away at CRAWLEY GREEN was called off yesterday because of a waterlogged pitch.

AFC Dunstable have a South Midlands Challenge Trophy Quarter Final against Chalfont St Peter at home next week.

SOUTH MIDLANDS DIV TWO

THE 61FC thumped MK Wanderers 15-0 having held a 5-0 lead at half time. Aaron Lewis led the way with five goals, while there were also hat-tricks for Ryan Smith and Jamie Irons.

The other goalscorers were Jack Magill, Matt Terry, Trishan Patel and Oliver Faulder. KENT ATHLETIC won 5-1 at home to BRACHE SPARTA COMMUNITY thanks to a flurry of late goals.

Ross Bates opened the scoring on seven minutes, although Brache missed a glorious opportunity to equalise three minutes later. Brache eventually levelled on 46 minutes through Sam Forbes.

However Kent re-established their lead on 65 minutes through Martin Powell.

Lee Potter made the score 3-1 on 77 minutes before Bates added his second and Rhys Calvanho scored in the final minute.

CADDINGTON recovered from conceding a second minute goal to draw 1-1 at home to Old Bradwell United.

Tom Hawksworth equalised on 33 minutes following a good move.

Caddington then hit the bar twice and missed a number of other good opportunities and therefore had to settle for a point.

TOTTERNHOE suffered a 3-1 home defeat to Mursley United in the other game in this division.

Town trio sign on the dotted line for keeps

THREE players on loan at Luton Town signed permanent deals with the club this week.

Midfielders Alex Lawless and Charlie Henry and striker Jason Walker are officially Hatters after signing their new contracts now the January transfer window has opened.

Lawless joined from York City and scored twice in Luton colours while Walker joined from Barrow and has also netted twice. Both scored in the 2-1 FA Trophy replay win at Welling United.

Winger Henry, who signs from Newport, has yet to feature having been sidelined with a foot injury.

Meanwhile midfielder Adam Murray completed his permanent transfer to Mansfield Town, while defender Craig Hinton has returned to his parent club Northampton Town after a month's loan at Kenilworth Road.

In other loan moves, Town have sent young professional Adam Watkins back out on loan to Arlesey Town for a second month after the bad weather restricted him to just one substitute appearance in December. The youngster from Dunstable scored for the Blues in their 2-2 draw with Biggleswade Town on Monday.

CALL FOR CHANGE:
Richard Money

Richard reckons a re-think is needed over promotion spots

PROMOTION places in the Blue Square Bet Premier need to be brought in line with the Football League – that's the view of Luton Town manager Richard Money.

The Hatters are one of five teams at the top of the Conference separated by only eight points and there are a host of clubs that used to play their trade in the top four English divisions all vying to get back there.

And with a number of these clubs now full time professionals it has boosted the quality in the non-league's top flight, so much so that Kenilworth Road boss Money has called for not one extra promotion spot but three.

"A lot has been said about the promotion status of this league," he said. "It took the Football League a while to accept non-league sides and since then there has been a call for more promotion places.

"A lot of big clubs find themselves in this league for some reason or another and are now spending a lot of money trying to get out of it having got their finances in order.

"In League Two there are clubs who are spending as little as possible trying to stay in the League. That's not right and something has to change.

"People have said there should be two automatic places and a play-off spot but I think there should be one more, just like League Two. There are a lot of clubs who would get promoted to the Football League and then back themselves to get promoted again and surely that's good for the game."

Generous Money commends Bath

BY IAN RYAN

ian.ryan@lutononsunday.com

LUTON TOWN boss Richard Money has given credit to Bath City following the goalless draw at Twerton Park yesterday where the Hatters will rue a number of missed chances, including two that struck the woodwork and a sitter somehow missed by Claude Gnaka.

The Hatters chief was pleased with the way his side performed in the match but thought his team were up against one of the table's in-form outfits.

Money said, "I thought it was an excellent performance. We played well and did everything we could to win the game. On another day we could've won it quite comfortably but it wasn't to be. There are always two teams in a football match, some people seem to forget that.

"I thought they were outstanding. I thought they worked their butts off to keep us at bay. We've seen them three or four times recently and they are a good outfit which I said before the game. We're the top two in the form table and I think they shown everybody why that is the case."

Money has also tried to reassure supporters that despite the two points dropped, the result is positive one and with AFC Wimbledon, who they play on Wednesday, being held away at Darlington, Luton Town need to use the same approach against them to continue their push for promotion.

"It's the same challenge (against AFC Wimbledon)", said the Hatters boss. "We

FRUSTRATING AFTERNOON:
Danny Crow, in orange, had several scoring chances but could not find the back of the net have to go and play the way we want to play and impose ourselves on the match and be mindful of what they've got, but we're going to play exactly the same way as we always do and that is to go and win a football game.

"We play against a team like Hayes & Yeading every week – nine across the back and one up front. We play against it nearly every week.

"I think there was only one team that was really trying to win that football match and it's difficult.

"We've hit the woodwork twice and we've missed half a dozen good chances. We'll take it and it's another point to the total.

"It's only in the context with what's happening at the top that people are a little bit disappointed, but it's an excellent point, that's the way I look at it."
